HOW TO BURY YOUR PANTS

1. Find some ground or compost pile which can be undisturbed for 6+ weeks.
2. Add the bury date to the label in the pack.
3. Lay pants and dated label on a clear plain background and take a photo (landscape format). (Keep the dated label safe for an after photo.)
4. Dig a hole and lay the underwear flat 15cm deep.
5. Cover with soil or compost.
6. Place the wooden label to mark the spot.
7. Fill in the information sheet, keep it safe.
8. Wait 6+ weeks (season and weather dependent - pant munchers are more active when it's warm).
9. Remove soil and take a peek, if no change - recover and replace the label.
10. Leave for another 4-6 weeks.

... NOW DIG UP YOUR PANTS

Dig up your pants

1. After 6 weeks or 10-12 weeks
2. Dig up your pants.
3. Write the digging up date on the burial label and information sheet.
4. Lay pants remains and dated label on a clear plain background and take a second photo (landscape format).

Send in your results

Send a photo of the information sheet with the two pants photos to compost@lessuk.org

Photos might be used in future publications and an exhibition later in 2025.